STONE - The age old building material

This house, built from stone by owner is ideally suited to a couple with a teenage child or single parent, or a couple who likes visitors staying over because not only is there a beautifully finished two bedroom home with all mod cons, but a granny flat finished exactly the same with almost exactly the same facilities built in. It's not often a house with granny flat comes on the market, but one built of stone is even rare. Just consider how even the temperature is inside, due to the insulation qualities of stone. ps, and it's only two mins walk to the bowls club.
